We cleared and rebuilt ditches next to a long stretch of Brainterr Pass Path, headed from the parking lot to the junction with the Skyline and other trails. We also cleared some culverts and swales/water bars/grade reversals along the way. We attempted to alleviate some of the perpetual puddles on the trail by digging small trenches from the low spots in the trail to the berm to where the water could flow out. We put the removed dirt into the low spots in the trail.
